Profile

Elizabeth (Liz) Dillon earned her masters degree in Occupational Therapy in 2000 and became a certified hand therapist in 2009. Driven by positive outcomes for her patients she takes pride in coming up with individualized treatment plans focused on the individual needs of her patients to help them return to their daily activities.

In addition to being a dedicated occupational therapist, Liz is mom to an active nine-year-old boy who is into swimming, baseball, Xbox and reading. When mom and son aren't together, Liz enjoys spending time with friends, working out, reading, walking her two pups and binge watching her favorite TV shows.

Education
