Profile

Beth has been practicing Physical Therapy for 15 years in an outpatient setting, with the last 12 years working next to Frankfort OAK Orthopedics. She graduated with a doctoral degree from Washington University in St. Louis in 2005. In addition to being a practicing clinician, Beth serves as a guest lecturer with Fox College Physical Therapy Assistant program.

Beth has experience in treatment of non-surgical and post-surgical injuries and prides herself in her compassion and care delivered to all ages. She provides hands on care and instruction to allow her patients to move better. She also has interest in vestibular rehab and has treated various vestibular dysfunctions and vertigo, including patients who have sustained a concussion.

In her free time, she stays busy with her 3 young boys and husband. She enjoys being outdoors, traveling, visiting her family, and loves to stay active.
