Profile

Regina earned her Master's Degree in Physical Therapy in 2001, and since then has enjoyed working in all settings in physical therapy including a position in teaching. Her primary interest is outpatient orthopedics and she enjoys working with variety of patient populations and diagnoses, but her particular interest is in geriatrics, joint replacement and pelvic floor health. Regina started at Northwest Orthopedics, a division of Illinois Bone & Joint Institute, in 2008, working as a staff physical therapist until she transitioned to the PT/OT office manager in 2013. Regina took a brief hiatus from Northwest Orthopedics in 2018 and rejoined the team in April of 2019. Regina is also affiliated with the Illinois Physical Therapy Association and the American Physical Therapy Association
